

PRECINCT COMMITTEEMEN INFORMATION: HERNANDO COUNTY, FL

The office of precinct committeeman (“PC”) has been called “the most powerful office in the world” because the PC is the closest structured political officeholder to the registered voter. A registered voter has no vote in internal Party policy; a precinct committeeman does. A PC elects district, county and state party officers, delegates to the Presidential convention and RNC members. PCs sent to the Pres. Convention vote on what policies the party platform will be advocated in the next two years. Through a monthly meeting, PCs interact with their elected Party officials to influence legislation.

~Dan Shultz – Precinct Strategy (<https://precinctstrategy.com>)

In Hernando County, there are 32 precincts. One pair, a man and a woman, of committeemen is designated per 1000 residents. -Precincts may change do to census redistricting-

Precinct population and other pertinent information can be viewed on this website:

To become a precinct committeeman, one must attend 3 *HCREC meetings (not necessarily consecutive) and become a member. [One may become a committeeman of only the precinct in which the person resides] The process begins by attending meetings and becoming a member of the First Hernando Republican Club, then continues by attending meetings and becoming a member of the Hernando County GOP. Both can be attended simultaneously. After 3 HCREC meetings are attended, there is a membership application, a meeting with the committee, and a vote to approve membership. Once one becomes a member, if there are openings in their precinct, the person will automatically become a committeeman of that precinct. If there are no openings, the person would be placed as an alternate committeeman.
